

CompTIA Security+ Exam Instructions

Introduction

Next, take the 90-question, 90-minute exam that simulates the actual CompTIA Security+ exam experience.

Take this examination as often as required to reach a score of 80%. Set a stretch goal of an 85% passing score. The passing score for the actual examination is approximately 83%.

Next, review some details about this simulated exam.

Your CompTIA Security+ simulated examination specifics

- Both the actual CompTIA Security+ examination and this simulated "mock" CompTIA Security+ examination consist of 90 questions, with one minute allowed for each question.
- Both exams contain a combination of multiple-choice and problem-based outcome questions.
- In this exam, each question's value is equal. When taking the actual exam, the graded value for each question will likely vary, with scenario or problem-based questions worth more points.
- Exam questions exist from all CompTIA Security+ knowledge domains.
- Questions exist in random order within the exam.

Let's get started

This is a timed 90-minute exam with no breaks. Take a few moments to prepare yourself for your exam experience by removing distractions. As you test, focus on each individual question. Stay calm if you believe that you answered a question incorrectly. Although this exam is graded, you can repeat this exam as often as needed to practice for the CompTIA Security+ exam. Good luck!

After the exam

Use this simulated exam as a learning experience to grow your knowledge and better prepare for the actual CompTIA Security+ exam experience.

To help you with the actual exam, the mock exam provides feedback with explanations for each answer. After completing this exam, review each question's feedback. If you answered a question incorrectly, take time to understand why the selected answer was incorrect. This information will help you refocus your study efforts.
