

Glossary: Identifying Jobs, Creating Resumes, and Drafting Cover Letters

Welcome! This alphabetized glossary contains many of the terms you'll find within this course. This comprehensive glossary also includes additional industry-recognized terms not used in course videos. These terms are important for you to recognize when working in the industry, participating in user groups, and participating in other certificate programs.

Terms	Definition
Applicant Tracking System (ATS)	A software application that helps companies manage their recruitment process by automating administrative tasks such as job postings, resume screening, interview scheduling, and candidate communication.
Bias	Tendency to favor or oppose something or someone based on personal feelings or beliefs, not facts or reason.
Contract or Contingent Employee	Individuals hired to a temporary position in a firm.
Cover letter	Serves as a personal introduction to you as a professional. It most commonly takes the form of a personalized note to add to an online application or an email attaching your resume.
Full Time Employee (FTE)	Individuals hired to a permanent position in a firm.
Grade Point Average (GPA)	A system used in high schools and universities, mainly in the US, to measure a student's performance and academic achievement.
Networking	The exchange of information and ideas among people with a common profession or special interest, usually in an informal social setting.
Personal References	People you use as a reference who can comment on your character, trustworthiness, honesty, and work ethic.
Prejudice	Refers to an unreasonable dislike of a particular group of people or things, or a preference for one group over another.
Professional References	People you use as a reference who can comment on your past work history.
Resume	A document that provides a summary of a person's education, qualifications, and previous occupations, typically sent with a job application. It is also known as a Curriculum Vitae (CV) in some countries.
Search engine	A software system that finds web pages that match a web search.
Search Engine Optimization (SEO)	The art of making your website more visible and relevant to people who search online for products or services related to your business.
Social Media	Interactive technologies that facilitate the creation and sharing of content, ideas, interests, and other forms of expression through virtual communities and networks.
Third-Party Recruiter	Defined as "agencies, organizations, or individuals recruiting candidates for temporary, part-time, or full-time employment opportunities other than for their own needs."

Skills Network